To whom it may concern,

The settlement regarding the MS Settlement with the Department of Justice shows how people can be PROVEN guilty and yet escape scotch free. MS were found guilty and yet the settlment does not make them stop their monopolistic schemes because the settlement has so many holes that even I, that I am not a lawyer can think of so many different ways of still retaining their monopoly abusivley (something they have been FOUND guilty) and still remain withing the agreement. This settlement has actually damaged any future legal actions we can possibly take against Microsoft if they keep on insisting on using proprietry standards.

With Thanks,
